Senior Year

A doorway to a new horizon,
a block from the past is clear.
We're leaving soon and we won't be back;
our own lives we're now able to steer.
Open-ended futures to seek,
destinies still to be found.
We've depended upon others up to this point,
but now it's our turn; they won't be around.
Some of us are going to college.
Have they prepared us sufficiently for the strife?
Only the future will tell if we made it or not,
but we know that we won't have time to look back on each life.
Are we being set free to fly by ourselves,
or are we being left out to suffer all on our own?
Have they prepared us enough to be able to survive?
We'll soon find out as we're all alone,
making a new start into lives we haven't yet seen.
They say the past is gone and that we'll all change.
They shouldn't judge us on past students' ways;
I guess it's up to us for the stereotypes to be rearranged.
Some students don't know where they're going;
some don't know what they'd like to be.
But you can be sure that each of us is one of a kind;
I am not like you and you are not like me.
The lives that we had once, a long time ago -
some were "perfect" and others torn apart.
But it all comes down to one final question:
Is senior year a closure or a perfectly pure, new start?

Secretary Katherine Muzuruk, Vice-President Erik Lynch, President Liz Pap, and Treasurer Stephen Pecoraro

To the Class of '99:

I would first like to thank you for allowing me to serve as your president. It was a privilege I absolutely enjoyed! I also want to wish everyone luck with whatever it is that you do. "May the force be with you!" All that I ask is that you never forget the good times or the bad times we had as a class, because after this year, those memories will be all that we have.

Sincerely,
Liz Pap

I'll Tell You Again

We shall surpass the past and conquer the future;
we won't be back once more,
And there will come a time when we all wonder what we did certain things for.
We claimed to abhor the long, stressful hours of the endless, aching classes we took.
We never saw that we were dependent on our parents to get us "off the hook."
You may think that we aren't strong;
you may believe that we shall break.
But you had better pray that we don't;
we are the future, so believe for your sake.
Lonely days when we'll miss our families,
Christmas cards and meaningful letters we'll promise to send--
Excuses and eventual silence.
We must not lose touch;. I'll tell you again.

MARCHING BAND

The Weymouth Wildcat Marching Band had a bit of a rocky start to their most successful season in a decade. The newly titled,"WILD BAND" took on a new director, Mr. Duff, who challenged the students to " GET AN EDGE" and to feel "SHARP AS A KNIFE." The band performed their rousing seven-minute field show of Blues Brothers tunes at all of the home football games. With tunes like "Can't Turn You Loose," "Messin' With the Kid," "Elwood's Blues," and "Respect," they commanded a great deal of respect from their teachers, the community, and their fellow students. They rocked the stands in between plays and taught the cheerleaders and dance team how to "get down." They had the entire WHS on their feet at Mr. Donovan's Turkey Day Rally. On a more serious "note," the WHS Wild Band took home a f ive-star rating from theAbington Band Jamboree, and an Outstanding Performance rating and a great deal of "RESPECT" from the Everett High Greater Boston League Band Jamboree. They also earned a third-place overall rating in the Quincy Holiday Parade and Best Percussion award in the New England Scholastic Band Association parade competition. Weymouth Pride runs high in the Wild Band, and rightly so.

Drama

The Drama Society advanced to the semi-final round of the 1999 New England Drama Festival with its play, Sweeny Todd. Mark Lindberg and Brenda Chroniak received all-star awards for acting, and April Bartlett received an all-star award for set design. An innovative set and strong supporting actors contributed to a terrific production.

The Girls' Soccer Team once again enjoyed a winning season while participating in the very competitive Bay State League. The team also, by the way of its record, qualified for the state soccer tournament. The season was highlighted by victories over perennial soccer power Needham and in the final league game against Braintree. Captains for this year's team were seniors Sarah Fahey, Kristen Hansen, Carolyn Smith, and Meaghann Donovan. Their desire, determination, and leadership skills have set lofty standards for others to follow.

The team limbers up before the game.

Tricia cuts for the ball.

Weymouth takes another win.

Coach Hayes eyes the play intently.

Yanovich rushes the ball upfield.

Sarah Fahey

"This was a good year! Don't give Hayes a hard time! Good luck next season!"

Carolyn Smith

"We never lost our determination. Let's go, beanbags!"

Kristen Hansen

"May the crossbars be kind, the grass soft, and the goals abundant. Thanks for all the good times. Good luck!"

Meghann Donovan

"It was hard for us at first with a new coach, but we pulled together in the end and had a lot of fun."

Danny cuts towards the net.

Stoller looks to make the pass.

Watch that ball, boys!!

This year's Boys' Soccer Team enjoyed a 16-4-3 record overall. The senior members boast a 57-7-8 record over the past three years. They are 13-1-1 in tournament action. The team is graduating sixteen seniors, but they have able underclassmen waiting to step up and continue Weymouth's domination of Massachusetts high school soccer in the 1990's. The team played with amazing poise, confidence, and pride, while defending back-to-back state championships.

The team trots back after scoring a goal.

Led by senior captains Krista Connelly, Jen Leary, and Melissa Rae, Weymouth's tracksters returned to their winning tradition, posting a 7-5 dual meet record. Sophomores Irene Kuja, Stefanie Zopatti, and Renee Maziarz consistently ran in the top three positions, giving Weymouth a bright future. Frequent scorers included Jillian Leitao, Helena Pendelton, Marissa Ruffini, Katie Hubbard, and Stephanie Daukas. The Wildcats put an exclamation point on their season with five consecutive victories..

The boys bring home another win.

The Boys' Cross-Country Team quickly stepped out of the shadow of last year's senior-dominated team, developing into a strong team with an 8-4 record. They also captured fourth place in the Bay State League meet. Senior co-captains, Sean Hanlon and Dennis Leahy, provided excellent leadership throughout the course of the season. A strong junior class, consisting of Greg McIntosh, Chris Julian, Dan Chretien, Jared Chase, and Pierre Rodgers, provided strong back up. The underclassmen presentover the past three years a great outlook for the future.

The 1998 football season was marked by the quality of the young men who were the members of the team. They distinguished themselves as a group of young people who practiced and played hard from the start of the season to its completion on Thanksgiving. The highlight of the season was the consistent intensity, determination, and team-oriented attitude of the squad, as well as the integrity and high quality of leadership provided by the senior class.

The 1998-1999 Weymouth High Cheerleading Squa had a great year. They attended an NCA camp at Boston University over the summer. All the girls worked extremely hard and had a great time. The squad compete this past fall in the Bay State League competition at Braintree High School. They also competed in March in the Winter Bay State League competition. In addition, th girls cheered for the football and basketball home games. The cheerleaders have worked to prove to everyone that cheerleading is a sport, and they have succeeded.

The squad is cheering the team to a win.

Members of the squad getting pepped

The members of the squad are flying high.

Can you find the rookies?

The girls in action.

How do you like the new uniforms?

With their new uniforms, this year's dance team looked as good as they performed. The girls were always there to get the fans' enthusiasm going. The team was a close-knit group that stuck together through thick and thin. This year's captains Barbara, Alani, and Courtney helped lead the team through hard work and dedication. They truly exemplified the spirit Weymouth High has come to expect from the squad.

Keep dancing, girls!

I'd like you to meet my friend, the boards.

With a chill in the air and the Zamboni on the ice, the hockey team laced up their skates to prepare for each game. They fought behind the net for the puck and tried to sneak one through the fivehole of all opposing goalies. Battling for the puck and taking and giving harsh checks takes a lot of endurance and strength. The team had a great season this year and hopes for an even better one next year.

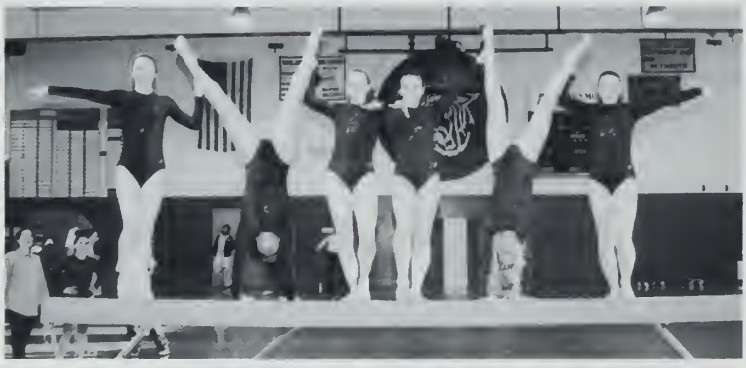
Erin strikes a pose.

In addition to personal commitment, flexibility and sheer strength are needed to be a part of the Girls' Gymnastics Team. This year, at each competition, every girl involved performed to the best of her ablitity in her event . The team finished the season with an undefeated record of 12-0, and they captured the Bay State League championship. Leading the team to its many victories were Melissa Sager, Jenn Klier, Nicky Pederette, and Corin D'Allessandro. Three girls won individual Bay State League titles: Lauren Hawkesworth on the vault and on floor, Jenn Klier on the beam, and Nicky Pederette on the bar.



We can do something you can't.

See what Weymouth water can do.

I think it'll go in.

In only their second year in the tough Bay State League, vying against teams with great golf traditions, the golf team managed to play on a par with the competition. Although this year's team was young, they played in many close matches. This year's captain, and the only senior on the team was Stu Linden. The golf team looks forward to continued success in the future with returning juniors, Adam Linden and Matt LeVangie who both made names for themselves in the league this year.

This season, under coach Dan Reilly, the Girls' Swimming and Diving Team had their best performances in three years. The girls had strong wins against Bay State rival Norwood, and beat both Quincy and North Quincy. The diving squad, which made its first full-season appearance this year, stunned the opposition. The divers, led by sophomores Lauren Hawkesworth and Stephanie Lewis, finished in first place in all but three meets. Captains Sarah Zerbonne, Kate Regan, and Emilie Flemer, boosted the team with strong performances all season.

The Girls' Basketball Team excelled this year in many areas. They had a new coach and a whole new attitude towards the game. A strong work ethic helped the team achieve their goals. Although they missed the tournament by one game, they stayed in the season, ending with all tough games. They had the true desire to do their best, all while having a lot of fun.

Put us in coach; we're ready to play.

That is what was heard coming from the mouths of many a spectator at the Boys' Basketball games. The team had a good season, with a record of 6 and 14. Captains Sean Murphy and DJ MacMillan led the team through a harrowing season, which ended up being very memorable. Sean Murphy broke the school record for most points scored in one game, truly a remarkable feat. The team really had a great time this year, and did their best on the court.

This fall the Girls' Volleyball Team had a great season They started off strong and ended on a multi-game winnin streak. They had a tough schedule and played well in ever game. They finished the season with a record of 16-6. Th girls made it into the second round of the tournament, when they had to face the #1 ranked Barnstable High. The girl played an excellent first game, and they fell just short o defeating Barnstable. Everyone had a good season and a lo of fun.

A time comes when one must separate himself from the amateur playfulness of gym volleyball to the higher level of play experienced in Boys' Varsity Volleyball. Entering this year's season, the team had two returning captains, as well as a few returning seniors. In order to achieve more victories and develop better team dedication year-round work is needed. The team is looking to go to the tournament for the first time this year. All in all, the team members make each other better through mutual help and encouragement.

Baseball is America's favorite sport, and the Boys' Baseball Team sure does their best to make their school proud. The team has a strong feeling of camaraderie, which helps them turn out a stellar performance each and every time they head out on the field. With many tremendous players returning, this years season looks to be one of the best yet. The team's strong will, hard work, and determination is their formula for success. Classes and Kids

Some courses were tough, and others were not.
Understanding tutors were there
when errors were caught.
A teacher to lend
a helping hand,
while we were studying a foreign land,
mathematical equations,
or charts and graphs.
We branded each other "freaks," "preps," "computer nerds,"
and committed the occasional social gaffes.
While some were artistic;
others liked dramatic words.
And although we're all safe in here now,
out there we'll be free-flying birds.
Some have been struggling for the past four years;
others seemed to breeze right through.
We were taught to ignore differences, though at times we didn't.
But we had to accept that I was me and that you were you.
Specific groups defined and secluded us from one another;
some were considered "geeks" and others were "cool."
But what none of us seemed to really notice was that we all made up the class of '99 at Weymouth High School.

AUTOMOTIVE

Auto Service Technology students learn all phases of automotive repair. Students acquire the basic knowledge and skills required to diagnose problems throughout the mechanical and electrical systems of automobiles and make the necessary repairs. Students are trained in current procedures on the most up-to-date equipment used in automotive technology.

CARPENTRY

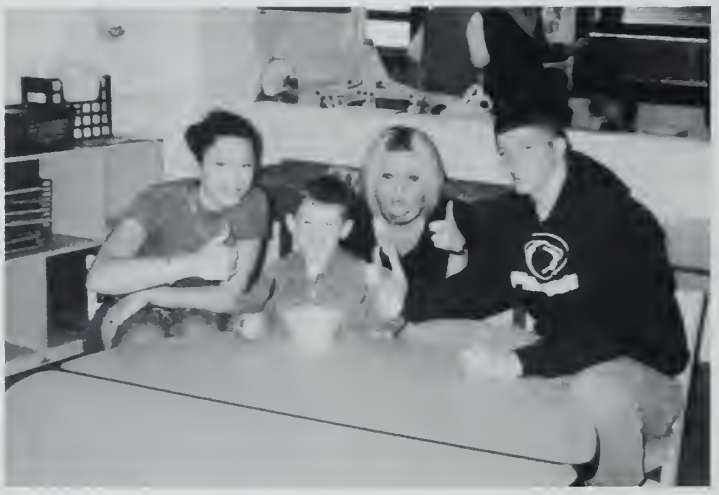
The construction industry represents the largest group of skilled workers in the United States labor force. Carpentry introduces students to the equipment and machinery used in most quality wood shops. Emphasis is placed on fundamentals of construction, including foundations, floor framing, wall construction and other projects related to on-site construction. After successful completion of Construction Technology I, II, and III, students will have the necessary background to go on to post-secondary technical schools.

COSMETOLOGY

The Cosmetology program is a 2-3 year course lesigned to help students obtain a license in iairdressing from the State of Massachusetts. All hases of cosmetology are covered, for example: nanicuring, skin care, permanent waving, and hair olor. Community service, such as working with nursing home and cancer patients, is also required. Retailing and running the school store are included in raining. In their senior year, students are required to complete a CBVE (Compentency Based Vocational Education) professional portfolio in order to graduate.

CHILD CARE

The Child Care program is designed for students who are interested in preparing for a related profession or for their future roles as parents by getting hands-on experience working with children. Students are given the opportunity to teach activites, guide behavior, and care for the needs of infants, toddlers, and preschoolers. Upon successful completion of Child Care, students receive a vocational certificate and fulfill the Office for Children certificate requirements.

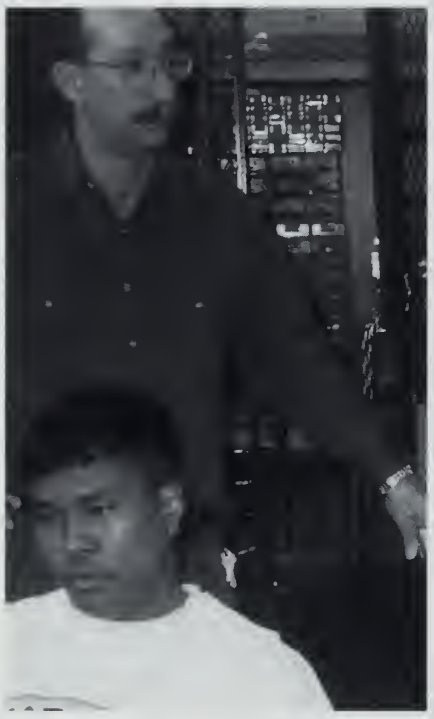


DRAFTING

Students in this course learn the skills used in modern drafting laboratories. They are presented with drafting problems similar to those in the world of work. Computer software helps them see the different techniques used in the field of drafting. Students also work on a variety of projects from industrial building plans to house plans. They also draw plans for heating and ventilation systems.

ELECTRONICS

Students taking this course learn electronic circuit theory. Students also learn how to service computers. Analyzing parts helps them assemble and install certain components that will make the computer work. Students install and configure network interfacing cards. They also learn how to install software and cables, using networking techniques.



GRAPHIC ARTS

Today, graphic arts is considered an important part of the communication field. The students learn by producing all the printed material necessary in the everyday operation of all the Weymouth Public Schools. Students learn layout and design using the Macintosh computer. The students also produce printed clothing and hats for the school store.

SHEET METAL

The sheet metal program is designed to prepare students for employment in the industry. Students are instructed in the use of many trade-related machines and equipment. The welding trade teaches students how to perform oxyacetylene burning, heli-arc, and M.I.G. welding operations. They are also taught air conditioning installation and maintenance.

Robert P. McCarthy

In July of 1998, the Weymouth High School community was saddened by the passing of Bob McCarthy. Mr. McCarthy taught English and reading in Weymouth for thirty-five years. During that time, he advised the drama club, directed the senior class plays, judged the New England Drama Guild Festival Shows, advised the National Honor Society, and acted as Lead Teacher of the English Department. Generations of his students, as well as his many colleagues, will remember Bob as much for his devilish sense of humor as for his decades of dedication to his career. He will surely be missed.

And he would gladly learn, and gladly teach.

As you enter the next phase of your life, go with the knowledge that you are a remarkable young woman filled with compassion, kindness, and love for your fellow human beings. Squirty, have confidence in the choices you've made. Never doubt how much your daily presence will be missed, but no matter the distance that separates us, you'll always be close in our hearts.

Congratulations, Stu! Not only on your graduation day, but every day you make us proud. Happy graduation!

Stuart C. Linden, Jr.

From the time these beautiful brown eyes first opened, you have always been a joy to us. We are so grateful to have you and so proud of all you have accomplished and what a sweet, loving daughter you always are. Congratulations.

Love,
Mom, Dad, and Laura

Bonnie Andrews

Tara,

I am so proud of you. Follow your dreams to continue your education and if you decide to live on campus, please keep your room clean.

Love,
Mom

Tara Waibel

S.P.P.P. Where has the time gone? You have grown to be the son and brother any family wishes for. You have proved that anything is within your reach. We love you and are so proud of you.

Love,
Mom, Dad, Paul, Stuce, Laurie, Duncan and Bailey

Stephen Pecoraro

I wish some days you could have stayed this young, but you will always be this precious to us. God bless you in the choices you make in your life.

Jeannie,
You were cute as a button, spinning round and round. It's hard to imagine our baby daughter is all done spinning her way through high school. Congratulations! You did it! Love and laughter always.

Jeanne Canniff

Kelly,
Congratulations! You did it. Now make all your dreams come true. May you always be as happy and carefree as this. We are all proud of you.

Love,
Mom, Dad, Tracy, D.J., Derek, Sean, Jesse, and your precious Hayle

Kelly Toomey

Pumpkinina,
May your future be as bright as your smile. Reach for the stars above, for dreams can come true. We accept your strengths and your weaknesses, your wants and your needs, your hopes and dreams. Whenever you need us, we'll be here with a comforting word and a loving hug. Love ya always,
Mom and Dad

Kristina Damon

Here's my little cherub at 7 months, all dressed up in her shower cap and now on to your high school graduation cap. I'm so proud of you. You had so many obstacles in your way and you did it! I knew that shower cap was bound to lead to other caps in your life. I love you.
